BISD honors teaching excellence

“Collaboration is a must for any librarian looking to make a difference. It should be about working on student achievement, and it is always easier to do that when working as a team,” Minix shared in her application. “Our library is a place where parents feel as though they are welcome and can search for answers to questions they might have about their kids. In my eyes, a library with an enthusiastic and hard working librarian should be the heart of every elementary school, not just a place to keep books.”

Outside of the library, Minix has worked with the district's SCORES Program, volunteered on the PTA board, served as kindergarten club sponsor, fifth-grade mentor, and Web club sponsor. In her application she wrote, “I knew that I wanted to focus some of my efforts on creating a powerful relationship with our community, more specifically, our students' families.”

Holland is a special education teacher at Haltom Middle School. He has been teaching at Haltom Middle since 1990.

“The most significant contributions I've made in education are reflected not in my own accomplishments, but the accomplishments of my students, and in the way they've become contributing members of their local community as well as the global community,” he wrote. “If I've made any contributions or accomplishments in the teaching field, it's because of the kids on bus #92 in Grand Prairie 20 years ago who led me to the career in the first place, and the kids at Haltom Middle School whom I've seen grow and change and become successes in their own right and in their own lives.”

Much of David's time outside of the classroom is spent with his family, at their church or in church-related activities. He and his wife currently serve on a search committee to help fill a ministerial position and as Care Group leaders for their Sunday school class. David also teaches a fifth-grade Bible study class.

Seimears teaches media technology at the Shannon Career Center. She has been teaching for three years.

While in high school, Seimears told her mother that she wanted to teach. After that time, her mother pleaded with her daily to pursue a better paying career. (More on Teaching on page 2)

The influence of a teacher on a student can be life changing for both the student and teacher. When their teaching experience is combined, BISD's teachers of the year for 2006 have impacted young lives for more than 25 years.

Melissa Minix, David Holland and Karen Seimears each have a passion for children and a love and desire to teach. Each realizes as educators they have a great impact on the lives of students.

These three know that being named BISD's teachers of the year is a great honor, but for them, the greater honor is seeing students succeed.

Thirty-two teachers selected as the top educators on their campuses were honored May 4 at a formal banquet. As the district's top three teachers, Minix, Holland and Seimears each received golden apples commemorating their achievements, custom-designed teacher-of-the-year rings from Herff Jones, Inc., and monetary gifts from BISD's Foundation for Educational Excellence and the Educational Employees Credit Union.

Minix is the librarian at Hardeman Elementary. This is her first year as a librarian at Hardeman, where she formerly taught kindergarten and first-grade.

BIRDVILLE ISD MISSION

"BISD, in partnership with the community, pursues educational excellence and dedicates its resources to create a learning environment that encourages all students to become productive citizens and lifelong learners in a global society."

Annual Asbestos Notification: 2006-07 School Year
Birdville Independent School District (BISD) is committed to providing a safe environment for our students, patrons, faculty and staff, and has made every effort to be in compliance with: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 CFR Part 763 Asbestos, Subpart E, "Asbestos-Containing-Materials in Schools".

In accordance with 40 CFR, Part 763.84(c), you are hereby notified that an Asbestos Management Plan developed by an accredited asbestos management planner is in-place for every BISD facility. Each management plan was duly filed in accordance with section 763.93 on or before October 12, 1988 with the Texas Department of Health. A copy of the management plan is maintained in the administrative office of each facility and in the Buildings and Grounds office located at 6119 East Belknap Street, Haltom City, Texas 76117. Summaries of the response actions taken by the District are included in each management plan. The complete documentation of all response actions is available for review in the Buildings and Grounds Department offices during regular business hours. Qualified BISD personnel perform semi-annual inspections throughout the district. Every three years, Birdville hires accredited and licensed asbestos inspectors to re-inspect all areas. The most recent re-inspection was conducted in December 2003.

Superintendent's Exchange...

The 2005-06 school year was another exciting year in BISD. I am proud of the continued academic, fine arts and athletic successes. Some highlights for me this year include: Richland Elementary students presenting their plans for an environmental center; reading to students across the district; watching Smithfield Middle and Birdville High students perform at the Texas Music Educators Association convention; listening to more than 700 of our middle and high school students perform at Bass Hall; watching our bands compete at the State UIL marching contest; recognizing more than 1,200 students as they graduated high school; and to conclude the school year, representing the BISD community at Ameritrust Field by throwing out the first pitch.

We have wonderful children and staff in BISD. Ultimately, it is our people and the daily life we share with its disappointments and triumphs that makes us great.

In addition to the successes of the school year, members of the community have worked tirelessly since January evaluating the facilities needs of the district. They have focused on health and safety, minimal functional requirements and overcrowding. I want to thank each member of the bond study committee for giving of their time in this monumental task. In the near future, the BISD community will have opportunities to learn more about the committee's final recommendations in public meetings and on the district's Web site.

Currently, the district's Web site has agendas, minutes and handouts from every committee meeting. I would like to encourage you to analyze the same materials the committee used in making their recommendations for a bond package. The bond committee information is available on the district's Web site at www.birdville.k12.tx.us.

Have a safe and happy summer!

Because of her love for the film industry, Karen finally decided to pursue a degree in filmmaking. In her application she shares, "I called my mother one day from New York and told her that I did not think I could ever feel like I was successful until I explored my desire to teach. She agreed that I had to go for it."

Outside of the classroom, Seimears quarterbacks the two-time World Champion Dallas Diamonds women's professional football team where her record is 32-2. She serves as the team chaplain, and last year was named the Offensive Most Valuable Player.

"I believe I am the teacher I am because I truly enjoy the time I get to spend with my students. I understand what crucial role athletics played in turning my life around as a teenager," she wrote. "I see now that Media Technology is a class with that same ability. ... Nothing has given me a greater sense of satisfaction."

Congratulations to all of BISD's teachers of the year.

BISD students

show continued improvement on TAKS tests

The Texas Education Agency released preliminary TAKS scores in May for students who took the test in spring 2006. BISD students' overall performance on the tests indicates an increase of one to four percentage points in English language arts, mathematics, science and writing. Performance in social studies decreased slightly from 91 percent to 89 percent.

BISD increased in the number of "Commended Scholars" recognized by the Texas Education Agency by one to three percentage points in all subjects. Commended performance represents academic achievement at a level that is considerably higher than the state passing standard.

The most significant improvement was seen at the high school level, where all subjects improved in the number of students that met standards with the exception of tenth-grade social studies. In addition, all high school content areas showed an increase in commended performance.

"The performance of BISD students on state-mandated tests continues to improve," Superintendent Stephen F. Waddell said. "It is exciting to see how well our students consistently advanced on this more rigorous test. I am proud of the students, teachers, parents and staff."

The final results and ratings will be released by the Texas Education Agency in August.

06-07 Volunteer Applications Available Online

In order to protect the students of BISD, the board of trustees developed a policy in 1995 requiring criminal background checks on all volunteers before they have direct contact with students.

The method of applying to be a volunteer in BISD is online at <https://www.birdville.k12.tx.us/cf/volunteer/index.cfm> or by going to BISD's home page at www.birdville.k12.tx.us and selecting "Volunteer Partnership" under Parents.

Although the district has made the site secure, there may be some individuals who are hesitant to apply/submit their personal information online. A limited number of paper applications/forms are available through the communications department at the administration building.

If a person is a new volunteer in the district, they will be required to enter their information online. This must be done before a background check can be performed, and individuals are allowed to work directly with children. It can take up to two weeks for a background check to be complete on new volunteers.

If a person has already been approved as a volunteer in the past, they must log in and verify that their information is still current. Once they have done this, they will be approved as a volunteer in BISD.

Parents, grandparents, community members and staff need to complete the application online each year. Please do not wait until the last minute to complete your application. It is never too early to apply or renew. If you have questions, please contact your local campus or the communications department at 817.547.5799.
